ADAGIETTO

Mahler's Adagietto, with minimal position work or technical problems is a wonderful piece for developing musicianship. The use of slow, sustained bows will give students the opportunity to concentrate on producing a full, even tone, while fine-tuning the rich harmonies and dissonances will improve intonation. Exploring the uses of dynamics, vibrato and tone to find ranges of color from the subtle to the intense will provide an exercise on expression. The harp part is scored for a level harp, but may be played on pedal harp or piano.
